Market Problems

For clients

- 1) A Lack of comprehensive platform : at the moment, customers need to rely on multiple channels when travel across destination causing complications and standard problem from several providers. For example, if you want to rent a car in Huahin and the next day you want to rent a bike in Cha-am. You have to contact two different service providers.
- 2) Rental Security deposit risk : typically, renting deposit for car can be in high number and it is risky when it comes in cash. Travelers may lose all their money when they travel to unfamiliar places and jurisdictions. At the moment, there are often cases where renters are cheated by owners who, under any pretext, refuse to return either the entire deposit or a part of it.
- 3) Expensive fees : according to statistics, about 30% of all payments for rented vehicles are made by tourists. In most cases, their bank cards are issued in a currency other than the seller's, which creates a number of inconveniences. Such payments are processed via international payment systems, therefore payment transactions, especially to a foreign country, can take several days. Moreover, during processing, the payment amount can be converted several times, which also makes tourists incur additional expenditures.
- 4) Customer unawareness : as of now, the rental market lets you choose a vehicle class, rather than a specific model with its unique features. In this regard, rental companies often list photos of their best available vehicle from the class, and then offer another model. As a result, you do not get the vehicle you expect.

A purchase of MVP Coin does not equate to a purchase of shares or other securities but utility token for goods & services. The token does not give its owner any shares in any company, property rights, a permit to manage or vote, or any other rights.
